

Show Notes

Episode 11: “We Ask because We Care” Campaigns on Collecting Patient Data

Our Guests:

Lisa Sloane

Founder and CEO, More Inclusive Healthcare

Tamara Migut

Director of Quality Improvement, Health Alliance Medical Plans

Show Link on Anchor:

Show Summary: Our conversation with Lisa Sloane, founder and CEO of More Inclusive Healthcare, and Tamara Migut, Director of Quality Improvement at Health Alliance Medical Plans, provides a rich opportunity to look at how collecting data on race, gender, sexual orientation and ethnicity pose unique challenges for health systems and how to craft a strategy that supports staff adoption and patient engagement. As an innovator and entrepreneur, Lisa Sloane shares her experience with working in partnership with different health systems to support their efforts to collect patient data. Tamara is responsible for the Health Alliance Medical Plans Quality Improvement Initiative, focusing on meeting new reporting requirements from the National Committee for Quality Assurance that links health inequities with HEDIS measures and outcomes.

Information Referenced on the Show:

More Inclusive Healthcare

<https://moreinclusivehealthcare.com/>

Health Alliance Medical Plans

<https://www.healthalliance.org/>

Office of Management and Budget Standards on Classification of Federal DAta on Race and Ethnicity

<https://orwh.od.nih.gov/toolkit/other-relevant-federal-policies/OMB-standards>

We Ask Because We Care Posters

<http://forces4quality.org/node/4185.html>

Information about the Just Health Collective Village, founded by Duane Reynolds is available here:

<https://jhcvilleage.mn.co> Information about the Inclusion Scorecard for Population Health developed by Dr.

Maria Hernandez is available here: <http://www.impact4health.com/population-health-1>

Contact Us

Maria Hernandez, PhD

President and COO

Impact4Health, LLC

510. 340.9312

maria@impact4health.com

@drmg Hernandez

Duane Reynolds, MHA

Founder & CEO

Just Health Collective

404.458.7680

Duane.Reynolds@justhealthcollective.com

@duane_reynolds